

Puppetry Show

As a part of the curriculum, the first year students were introduced to the folk media and its importance. To make the topic interesting and more comprehensible, the students were taught how to make puppets. The students then selected socially relevant topics like eve teasing and excessive use of mobile phones and staged a puppet show for the teachers and students of the institute. The event was a great success and definitely made learning more interesting.